Dear Parents/Guardians,

The staff in Lebanon School District hopes that this letter finds you well. We understand that due to the COVID-19 pandemic that these are uncertain times. We are committed to working with you and New Story to ensure that your child is learning and progressing academically during this period of school closure. The District website also includes many resources during this time that may be beneficial for your family.

Enclosed with this letter you will also receive the Notice to parents regarding the District's intent to provide a free and appropriate education at this time. We are not proposing changes to your child's program but will, as much as we can, connect proposed remote instruction to the services and supports in your child's current IEP.

New Story will be making attempts to communicate with you to inform you of educational opportunities available to your child during this time. The ability for us to implement the instruction and supports requires internet access. While in contact with your child's teacher, please let them know if there are any barriers that may prevent your child from accessing online content. If so, we will try and work with you to provide further accommodations during this time to help alleviate those barriers.

We look forward to be able to continue to provide educational supports for your child at this time.

Sincerely,

Joshua Coatsworth
Director of Special Education
Lebanon School District
